

COAST STRIKE DELAYS TRAINS

Heavy Shipments of Fruits,
Vegetables and Fish for El Paso Do Not Arrive.

As a result of the strike of the four railway brotherhoods at Los Angeles and California, all eastbound trains on the Southern Pacific and El Paso and Southwestern railroads out of Los Angeles were reported shut down Monday.

Train No. 102, the Sunset Limited train of the Southern Pacific, left Los Angeles Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock but other trains were not moved, according to information received here.

Train No. 102, due in El Paso at 2:45 this afternoon, will arrive at 4:30, according to train schedules.

As a result of the strike in trains on the coast, many El Paso mercantile houses will suffer. Train No. 110, the last night express train of the Southern Pacific, which carries heavy express shipments of California fruits, fish and vegetables for El Paso markets, has been shut down between Los Angeles and El Paso.

To accommodate passenger traffic in New Mexico and Arizona, a train, left El Paso at 10:30 p. m. Monday morning, and is running on the schedule of regular train No. 110 which arrives here at 10 o'clock tonight. Upon arrival of this train, eastbound train No. 10 will be operated as a stub train from El Paso to San Antonio, Houston, New Orleans and other points in South Texas and Louisiana.

El Paso & Southwestern train No. 2, which runs over the Southern Pacific tracks from Los Angeles to Tucson, was shut down over the entire road west of El Paso. A stub train will be made up here and will leave the union station upon the arrival of Southern Pacific train No. 110, reported for 10 o'clock tonight. This train will carry passengers destined for Chicago, Kansas City and other points on the Rock Island line.

An attempt will be made to operate Southern Pacific train No. 189, leaving El Paso this afternoon at 5:30, through to Los Angeles, according to local officials. Train No. 101, the west bound Santa Fe limited train, left El Paso early Monday morning and it is thought here that this train will run through to the coast.

Train No. 4, the Golden State Limited of the El Paso & Southwestern, was also shut down west of El Paso but a stub train left here at noon running on normal schedule of the regular Golden State Limited train.

Train on the Santa Fe route not affected by the strike from Albuquerque to El Paso. Train No. 591 arrives in El Paso on time Monday morning carrying passengers from points in southern New Mexico.

All trains on the Texas & Pacific from the east, which are running on time and are not affected by the coast strike.

Expect Daily Return From Strike Vote

Trains Are Delayed; Men
Here Will Stick to Jobs
Awaiting Orders.

A report on the result of the vote on the proposal of railway shopmen strikes is expected daily in El Paso by railway trainmen.

The votes were to be in Washington, D. C. by August 24, where they were to be counted immediately at the headquarters office of the American Federation of Labor.

Locals in local unions say the men will stick to their jobs until ordered out. Strikes elsewhere, however, are interfering with the train schedules. Restaurant and hotel men said Monday they received no more shipments from Colorado for the reason that no trains arrived Sunday from the north.

Trains from California also have been delayed.

Striking Actors Go Out After the Movies, Too

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 23.—Managers of moving picture theaters have been notified today by the latest move in the actors' strike.

Striking actors, with all legitimate theaters in Chicago, plan to begin rehearsal for a benefit production to openly with an all star cast in Chicago probably at the end of the week.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Two more theaters, the Casino and the Liberty, have been forced to close by a walkout of stage hands and musicians in sympathy with the striking actors' equity association. This brings the total of New York's play houses closed by the strike to 25.

The independent actors' association, sponsored by George M. Cohan, to fight the equity, held a mass meeting late this afternoon.

Mr. Cohan was elected president.

Three fast through trains to the west have been shut down.

Mayor Parker has out the supply of gasoline for automobiles to the west and, if the situation continues for hours longer, the mayor will confer with the council and city attorney as to some method of rationing food supplies. Troops who were sent here from Fort Huachuca under mailed orders are to return today to the fort.

The proposed sympathetic strike of Tucson shopmen Saturday at midnight has been called off.

The El Paso plumbers' union has given notice that on and after Sept. 1 its scale of wages will be $10 a day for eight hours. This is the fourth union to give notice of a raise of wages on Sept. 1. The others are the painters, carpenters and bricklayers.

U. S. CARRY OUT OF MEXICO

Return When They No Longer Follow "Hot Trail."

The expeditionary troops for a conference. At this conference, Maj. Yancey said, a decision was reached to withdraw Sunday, as the Americans had been unable to locate the hot trail.

Run Into Carranza Patrol.

"Our patrol in charge of Capt. Mallock, with comparatively few men, ran into a Carranza night patrol north of Coyame," Yancey said. "It was reported there were about 40 Mexican troops in the patrol and it was impossible to learn how many Mexicans were in the main body. Our patrol returned to our night camp. I held a conference with officers of the expedition late Saturday night. We had been unable to locate the hot trail we expected to find. The bandits were far in the interior then."

"Our orders were to pursue the bandits as long as the trail continued 'hot.' When we lost it, we decided to return."

Troops Back On U. S. Soil.

The 2nd and 3rd regiments of American cavalry troops, who last Tuesday entered Mexico in pursuit of the bandits, are now back on U. S. soil. Peterson and Paul H. Davis for ransom, were back on American soil today, following abandonment of the chase yesterday. The troops today intended to resume patrol of the border. At midnight 240 troops had reached Ruidosa, according to a telephone message.

Heavy rains yesterday which interrupted the trails of the bandits brought a decision to abandon the chase after contact had been made with Carranza troops.

The troops, after riding for hours in a heavy rainstorm, began to arrive shortly after 3:30 last night at Ruidosa. They had been delayed two hours because of the hard rains.

The cavalry troops shot under roofs last night for the first time since last Monday when the expedition was formed.

Report Carranza Capture Bandits.

Purging the border, American troops were below the border four bandits were killed by the troops and another by alarm. Nine bandits are reported to have been captured by Carranza soldiers.

The captured bandits are said to have been members of the Jesus Huasteca band, which captured Lieut. Peterson and Davis.

Missing Airman Located.

Lieut. George K. Rice and U. S. 1st Cavalry, American army aviators who were reported missing below the Rio Grande after they had left Ruidosa for Mexico at daylight to reconnoiter for the punitive expedition, were located in a military plane today.

They had been lost in the rainstorm and made a forced landing. Neither of them was injured.

Cavalry troops came out of Mexico in excellent spirits and without casualties, after five days of hard riding.

All of the punitive expedition had recrossed the border shortly after 1 p. m. today.

Expedition Success, Says Langhorne.

Col. Langhorne last night said the expedition was considered a success. He pointed to the killing of five bandits, suspects and arrest of six other suspects.

The Americans and capture of nine by Carranza troops at Coyame.

The immediate reason for withdrawal, he said, was that there no longer was any prospect of capturing other bandits and there were no more hot trails to follow.

Capt. Truman E. Boudinot and 20 men of troop 10, Eighth Cavalry, thought they were to be prisoners of Carranza soldiers near Palomas Springs, N. M., and an embarrassing situation was averted by the ready wit of the captain.

On Thursday, while the Americans were searching for missing miles, Capt. Boudinot heard a report that the bandit Chilo Cano was in Palomas Springs and took a detachment to ascertain if it were true. Near Palomas Springs the Americans were surrounded by a band of 150 Carranza soldiers, the commander of which told Capt. Boudinot that he must first obtain permission from Ulinaga before the Americans could return to the United States.

Capt. Boudinot told the officer his colonel would be very angry if he were detained. The Carranza commander then conferred with a lieutenant.

"The Mexicans have a wholesome respect for Col. Langhorne," Capt. Boudinot said. "After their conference they told us we could return if we had only 30 men."

Troops Cross at Ruidosa.

President, Texas, Aug. 23.—Twenty-five American cavalrymen and three Texas rangers crossed to Mexico Saturday in search of bandits believed to be opposite Ruidosa. After scouring the foothills they returned to the American side without prisoners.

Gen. Antonio Pruneda, Carranza commander in the region, Mexican troops, on the other hand, he said, moving in small units, having intimate knowledge of the lay of the land, could more easily surprise their quarry.

Impairing Mexico's Interests or Sovereignty.

Mexico City, Mex., Aug. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The highest Mexican government officials are making a close study of the principal points at issue between the Mexican and American governments with the view of reaching arrangements satisfactory to the United States without impairment of Mexican national interests and Mexican sovereignty, according to declarations made Saturday by Cabrera, secretary of the treasury.

These points are petroleum legislation, indemnifications, frontier vigilance and guarantees for the safety of foreigners and foreign interests in Mexico. Within three or four days, according to senior Cabrera, he will begin giving out the Mexican press statements regarding the government standpoint on the question at issue and the means which Mexico can rightfully adopt to meet foreign governmental representations.

"Although I have plenty of confidence that the government of which you are in charge will find the appropriate means of surmounting the difficult international situation, through which we are now passing, I am proud to tell you that in the very remote contingency under which this situation might not reach a satisfactory solution, I will be glad to place my modest forces in helping our government in any place that I might be used."

Juan M. G. Herin, commanding the district, by Col. Francis W. Glover.

Col. Glover, who was sent Saturday to investigate the movements of troops G and E of the Seventh Cavalry, returned late the same day and reported that the chase was given up as there was no possible chance of the troops succeeding in their mission. Orders were then issued for the withdrawal of the soldiers and conveyed to the field by airplane.

Col. G crossed the border to the American side at 5 o'clock and troop E returned at 3:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The inscription on the money dated in the fifteenth century. In addition to the coin in the hands of the skeleton, other money was found, some of it Chinese.

The paving workers immediately buried the skeleton, Gaetano retaining the valuable discovery. One coin was sold by him for $2.50 as a relic. In one of the teeth of the skeleton was a cavity, which was filled with cotton. The bones were in a good state of preservation.

An Organization or an Individual?

A Trust Company, as organized, is vastly more competent than an individual, in the task of settling or managing estates.

First is its Board of Directors—many individuals—who are arbiters of its policies. Then there are the Officers, chosen for their fitness and experience, whose composite judgment will influence the decisions necessary to the successful management of trusts in its control. Lastly, the clerical staff, trained to its duties. Whatever happens to one cog in this wheel, the work of the organization will suffer no interruption. Can a mortal individual approximate the efficiency of such a trained organization?

It is quite possible, even likely, that a consideration of the facilities of this Company, and the various features of service which may be adopted to your case, will prove of great value to you.
